Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

WASHINGTON — Secretary-Managers E. Scott Pattison of the Soap and Detergent Association, objecting to a so-called "truth-in-packaging" law.

"The housewife at the sink or washer is our fully competent, least costly enforcement agent against deceit."

KEENER, Ala. — Baltimore postman William L. Moore, shot to death while hiking to Mississippi, in a letter to Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett.

"Make certain that when the Negro gets his rights and his vote that he does not treat the white man with the contempt and disdain that, unfortunately, some of us now treat him."

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Pulitzer Prize winner Hodding Carter, crediting writers and journals for contributing to today's changed attitudes in the South.

"For 100 years Southern writing has either been defensive or critical. One school presents a dream, the other a nightmare."

AMMAN, Jordan — King Hussein, scoffing at reports he was ready to flee Jordan in the face of pro-Nasser demonstrations.

"So long as I feel I am needed, whether as king or as an ordinary person, I will remain."

Frank Howard Finally Put On Specs And Now The Los Angeles Dodgers See Rosy Future

By MILTON RICHMAN

Frank Howard finally has put on glasses and suddenly the Los Angeles Dodgers can see a much rosier future ahead.

Wearing the specs at bat for the first time Tuesday night, the 6-foot-7 Howard hammered a home run in the bottom of the ninth inning to break up a tie and give the Dodgers a 2-1 victory over the Braves.

Howard had considered putting on glasses for some time but did not decide to wear them until shortly before Tuesday night's contest.

From the point of view of the Dodgers, who have been having their troubles lately, the big outfielder couldn't have picked a better time.

Even though they won, the Dodgers still had their troubles. They collected only two hits, one off starter Bob Shaw and the other off starter Claude Raymond.

Koufax Injured

They also may have lost their ace southpaw, Sandy Koufax, for a while. Koufax, who was sidelined for half the season last year with a finger ailment, suffered a muscle spasm in his left shoulder Tuesday night and was forced to leave after blanking the Braves on two hits for 6 1/2 innings.

Sandy entrusted a 1-0 lead to Ron Ferranowski, who nursed it until the top of the ninth when Hank Aaron cracked out his fifth homer of the season to tie the score.

And merely to make sure the game had everything, Milwaukee Manager Bobby Bragan announced the Braves were playing under protest of the Boston-New York game.

the Giants on a six-hitter. Vada Pinson singled home Frank Robinson with one out in the ninth and Marichal then struck out both Leo Cardenas and Marty Keough. Jesse Gonder hit a pinch homer for the Reds in the eighth. Orlando Cepeda collected three of the Giants' 10 hits. Southpaw Joe Nuxhall was the loser.

Suburban Club Has Meeting In Home Of Mrs. Glen Sims

A lesson on preparation of salads and some good salad recipes were given to the Suburban Homemakers Club by Mrs. Gene Cole, major project leader, at the regular meeting of the club held at the lovely home of Mrs. Glen Sims on Meadowlane on Tuesday evening at seven o'clock.

Mrs. Bernard Tabers, president, announced the district federation meeting to be held Wednesday, April 24, at the College Student Union Building and urged all members of the homemakers club to attend. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 21, at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Tom Wells, Cardinal Drive.

Dear Abby.. Face The Facts, Lady! Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 47 and should have more sense. I've been married 18 years to a man who doesn't drink or chase and he is good to me. We have a teen-ager who is a joy to both of us. My husband is quiet and reserved, and I am just the opposite. But we get along fine. I didn't love him when I married him, but I wanted a home and family. I met a man at work recently and we were immediately attracted to each other. Before I knew it we were up to our ears in an affair. He wanted to marry me, and I became an emotional wreck trying to make up my mind. Finally I told him I couldn't hurt my husband and child, so we broke it off. Within a week he had someone else. Since then I've spent my nights regretting my decision. Was I wrong? Will time heal the scars, or must I learn to live with my mistake?

DEAR STILL: Your biggest mistake was getting involved with him in the first place. Your decision was right! When he found a replacement for your "love" in a week, you surely must have realized the shallowness of his feelings for you. That realization AND time should heal your "scars"—and soon.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and have been dating this boy, 21, for three months. At first my parents permitted me to see him twice a week, but they have limited me to once a week because they thought we were getting too serious. Are they right in doing this? Please don't say parents know best because they don't always. Isn't it only logical for teenagers to try to make the most of what time they have together when they are limited? I would like your opinion.

DEAR LIMITED: Romance progresses a little with each meeting. The more time you spend together, the more serious the romance becomes. Your parents know more about this than you do. Take their word for it. And by the way, a 21-year old is a MAN, not a boy.

DEAR ABBY: I certainly sympathize with the lady who wrote concerning her loose-tongued minister. I've had the same experience. My confidences cropped up in two of his Sunday sermons. Now I tell it directly to the Lord.

DEAR BUTTONING MY LIP: The shoe fit, so you wore it. But don't forget, you aren't the only one with that size foot!

Party Of The Year To Be Held Tonight For Homegrown Princess

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP PHILADELPHIA (AP) — This historic city, where Americans declared their independence of royalty in 1776, will give the party of the year tonight for its homegrown princess, Grace of Monaco.

The party, titled the Crystal Ball, will climax a week of regal ceremonies for the former Grace Kelly and her husband, Rainier III of Monaco. The prince termed it "the second most important visit" to his-in-law's hometown, ranking after his 1956 visit to ask Grace for her hand.

But for Philadelphia it was the royal pair's most important sojourn in terms of public occasions at which Grace and Rainier could be seen by the average citizen. Thousands of Philadelphians have glimpsed them at various events in connection with the Philadelphia travel and vacation show which the couple opened last Friday.

Tonight 600 of the city's elite—socialites, business tycoons, politicians and figures from the world of the arts—will crowd the great Greek style foyer of the Philadelphia Museum of Art for the ball sponsored by the Philadelphia fashion group.

Sitting With Governor Grace and Rainier will be guests of honor and will be seated in a royal box at the head of the grand stairway with Gov. and Mrs. William M. Scranton and other dignitaries. The princess will receive a baccarat crystal bowl from the sponsors for her continuing influence on excellence in fashion.

From the pre-dinner champagne reception until a midnight fireworks extravaganza on the museum terrace in view of downtown Philadelphia, every detail of the evening will be lavish. The buffet dinner will be served up on a 60-foot table featuring gourmet viands sculptured in the shape of heraldic animals.

Wednesday, April 24th The Purchase district meeting of the Homemakers Clubs will be held at College auditorium at 10 a.m.

Handily colored banners. Cadets from Pennsylvania Military College have been drafted to provide arches of crossed sabers under which the models will pass.

After the ball Rainier and Grace will slip out of the limelight for a quiet visit with Grace's mother, Mrs. John B. Kelly Sr., who has been looking after their children, Prince Albert and Princess Caroline, at her East Falls home. They will remain here for about five weeks with sidetrips to Washington and New York.

Mrs. J. A. Outland of Murray will preside at the meeting. Everyone is urged to attend.

Thursday, April 25th The Anne Armstrong Circle of the Hazel Baptist Church WMS will meet at the home of Mrs. Lurline Hill at 7 p.m. Mrs. Dewey Smotherman will be in charge of the program.

The Zeta Department of the Murray Woman's Club will meet at the club house at seven-thirty o'clock. Hostesses will be Mesdames Robson, Cal Luther, Ace McReynolds, and Miss Vivian Hale.

The Jessie Houston Service Club of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle will meet with Mrs. B. Wall Melugin at 7:30 p.m.

Saturday, April 27th The Alpha Department of the Murray Woman's Club will have its luncheon meeting at the club house at noon with Miss Mary Lassiter, Mesdames C. E. Lowry, Henry McKenzie, J. I. Hosick, and Leonard Vaughn.
